

SetSysJust                      Change justification of system script

#include <Script.h>

Script Manager

void                      SetSysJust( newJust );

short                      newJust                      the value indicating right- or left-justification

SetSysJust changes the direction of text justification for the system script by setting the global variable that represents such direction--0 for left-justification (default) or -1 for right-justification.

newJust is the direction the system font script will now be justified.

Returns: none

---

Notes:    This routine is in the Pascal interface, not ROM and can't be used with the 64K ROM.