GetSysJust                    Say whether system font is right- or left-justified

#include <Script.h>                                              Script Manager

short          GetSysJust( );

               returns          a short; the direction of the text justification

   GetSysJust gets the direction of text justification for the system script--0 for left-justification (default) or -1 for right-justification.

────────────────────────────────────────────────────────────

Notes:   This routine is in the Pascal interface, not ROM and can't be used with the 64K ROM.